AN ADDRESS OF FELICITATION

Let us offer you our congratulations on your stunning victory in the general election to the State Legislative Assembly concluded recently. The magnificent triumph that you earned, thereby gaining the rare distinction of being a Chief Minister for three consecutive terms, is at once a vindication of the immense popularity that you enjoy among the populace, a reflection of the implicit trust that they repose in you, and an expression of the deep faith that they have in the principles that you stand for. We hope that our state will attain even greater heights under your leadership and will become a model of excellence in every sphere of governance to the rest of the country. We, on our part, pledge to stand by you in your mission of making West Bengal, the queen of all the states in India.
